Ford takes short jabs at Reagan

Ford says he and challenger Ronald Reagan differ on some issues. But whether it's a philosophical difference seems to depend on which of the President's statements one hears.

At one point in a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night, Ford said, "Governor Reagan is to the right of me philosophically." Elaborating on their differences about federal spending and Social Security, he said "it is a somewhat different philosophy.

But a few minutes later, in response to another Reagan question, Ford said, "I don't think there are any philosophical differences.... I think he is to the right of me in a pragmatic and prac-

Either way, Ford also declared that anybody to the right of me, Democrat or Republican, can't win a national election.

He named no other names, but on the Democratic side seemed clearly to be referring to Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama

In stressing the Social Security and federal spending issues, Ford continued to hit at themes he believes will help him in the New Hampshire and Florida primaries. But he declined two opportunities at the news conference to flatly predict victories.

"I think we will do well in both I am encouraged in both cases," he said. Reagan campaign manager Lyn Nofziger challenged Ford's recitations of the former California governor's positions. Ford said Reagan has suggested from time to time that Social Security ought to be voluntary and that he has suggested Social Security funds might be invested in the stock market.

Nofziger said Reagan "has been stating very clearly that he believes Social Security must be mandatory' and that Reagan has never proposed stock market investment for the fund. Reagan told a news conference in Florida last week that Social Security funds "are not invested, as they could be invested, in the industrial might of America.

Ford said he disagreed with what he described as Reagan's proposal of "a

WASHINGTON (AP) - President $90-billion cut in federal expenditures transferring the responsibilities and the programs to the local and state officials where they either have to abandon the programs or raise taxes to support them.

Nofziger said Reagan "has always proposed that any transfer of federal program funds back to the states must be accompanied by a transfer of tax sources.

Ford said he would campaign in New Hampshire Thursday and Friday this week. The election is next Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a variety of controversies swirled at the level of the lifeblood of political campaigns money scheduled hearings for today on proposals to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission, which will lose many of its powers after Feb. 29 unless Congress revamps the new federal election law that was partially struck down by the Supreme Court.

Sen. James L. Buckley, Cons.-R. N.Y., whose name led the lawsuit attacking the law, called Tuesday for prompt and major restructuring of the campaign finance procedure. He said a new Justice Department

Congress should not be allowed as at present to veto FEC regulations and the limits on campaign contributions that were upheld by the Supreme Court should be raised.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he was confident new agreement could be reached on a new law including a reconstituted commission before the end-of-the-month deadline set by the court. The fight to reconstitute the commission is expected to be tougher in the House because of the opposition of Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, chairman of the committee handling election legislation.

But if the panel is not reconstituted, the faucet of federal matching funds may be turned off as of March 1. Even as the debate over its future continued Tuesday, the FEC certified Reagan for an additional $494,687.68 in government money for his campaign.

At the same time, the National Abortion Rights Action League filed a complaint with the FEC trying to stop the award of any matching funds to antiabortionist Ellen McCormack. She is campaigning for the presidency on a single-issue platform and submitted her matching funds application Jan. 31.

She claims she has raised the required $5,000 in each of 20 states from individual contributions of $250 or less.

The FEC staff, now auditing the McCormack submission, plans to report to the commission Thursday

There were these other political developments Tuesday:

-Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. called for a "maximum determined national effort" to rebuild the U.S. Navy, which he said has fallen dangerously behind the Soviet navy. Jackson said as president he would increase the fleet to from 650 to 700 ships instead of the present 477

-Jackson also made public his federal income tax returns for the past five years, which showed he earned $322,210 during the period 1971-1975. According to the returns, he donated $102,725 received for speeches and other honoraria to charity

Jury hears more Hearst testimony

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Patricia Hearst says her mind was swamped with revolutionary rhetoric and her body ravaged by rape and other physical abuse when she robbed a bank under fear of execution.

Miss Hearst wept frequently as she testified before the jury for the second time Tuesday - a day on which the trial judge issued a memorandum saying the newspaper heiress had failed to convince him she was "a prisoner whose every move was made under the watchful eye" of her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers. Miss Hearst, sipping water and using tissues to wipe away her tears, told her jurors that she entered a Hibernia Bank branch on April 15, 1974, certain that SLA chieften Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze intended to gun her down in robbery and, when asked by defense counsel F. Lee Bailey why she frequently glanced over her shoulder at DeFreeze, replied, "I had thought that even though I would go in and do this, that he was going to kill me anyway inside the bank.

She said she reacted with disbelief when the SLA told her they were going to rob a bank and she would participate. They said they needed money, she testified, and that DeFreeze wanted me to be wanted by the FBI.' The basis of Miss Hearst's defense is that she participated in the holdup under threat of death. The jurors listened intently Tuesday as the defendant testified between replays of the tapes she said she recorded in blind terror. She told them of being forced to have sexual intercourse with DeFreeze and SLA member Willie Wolfe in the cell-like closet where she was kept blindfolded. Bailey said Miss Hearst would continue her saga today, her third day on the stand, as she moves into what he concedes is the "stickiest point" in her defense - a shooting spree that led indirectly to the deaths of DeFreeze, Willie Wolfe and four other SLA members in a shootout.

The defendant has admitted spraying a Los Angeles sporting goods store with rifle fire in what she claimed was an SLA-induced reflex to free two SLA members from a bungled shoplifting attempt.

A pistol left on the sidewalk and a teen-ager taken hostage overnight plus other clues led Los Angeles police to the shootout in which the six SLA members died on May 17, 1974. The jury will see a video-taped newscast of the fiery afternoon, Bailey said placed on the ballot for renewal for another five years. In addition, Covert requested that the tuberculosis levy of .15-mill be placed on the June 8 ballot for a five-year renewal. This levy currently generates $17,300 per year for tuberculosis control. Normal operating expenses for the health board programs in this area run only $7,000-8,000 per year, and the balance of the revenue is kept in a special fund to be used in case of an epidemic. The levy expires this year. During the last five years of the levy, a surplus of some $30,000 has been generated for the emergency fund, and another $30,000 surplus can be expected if the levy is renewed for five more years. Including interest, this would

Mandatory prison sentences urged

WASHINGTON (AP) - A group of liberal scholars generally politicians today urged mandatory prison sentences for violent offenders and called for an end to the parole

The Committee for the Study of Incarceration concluded that a convicted offender should be punished with jail or some lesser penalty primarily "because he deserves it," not because of any hope of rehabilitation. But the panel also recommended that only the most vicious criminals should be jailed longer than five years.

The committee's conclusions from a four-year study were published today in a book called "Doing Justice."

Former New York Sen. Charles Goodell, now a Washington lawyer, was chairman of the panel which was formed shortly after the 1971 Attica prison riot and was financed with grants from the Field Foundation and the New World Foundation

'It may seem surprising that a group of liberal professors and activists, when faced with a choice between trying to rehabilitate offenders and punishing them as they deserve, chose punishment," Goodell deserved remarked.

But he said the committee concluded that is the only fair basis for sentencing people." The committee made no claims that its proposal would reduce crime. Instead, Goodell said, the reforms were offered "as a means of making the system fairer.

The committee also included Alan Dershowitz, a professor at Harvard law school; Herman Schwartz, chairman of the New York State Correction Commission; Eleanor Holmes Norton, chairman of the New York City Commission on Human Rights; Joseph Goldstein, a professor at Yale law school; and David Rothman, a professor of history at Columbia University.

The committee joined Atty Gen. Edward H. Levi, other government officials and a growing number of criminal justice experts in the opinion that efforts at rehabilitating criminals through vocational training or psychological counseling - have failed to curb crime. Rehabilitation has been the primary goal of sentencing during the recent past, the committee noted. Instead, the group proposed that the principal guide for the sentencing process should be a theory of "commensurate deserts" - punishing the offender because he deserves it, based on the seriousness of the crime and how much of a part he played in it.

Democrats ask Rhodes views on shortages in funding

Democratic legislative leaders asked Gov. James A. Rhodes today for "a clear indication of your desires" on action to aid state agencies facing budget shortages.

A joint House-Senate Finance Committee has reopened hearings on the state's current twoyear budget in a continuing dispute between majority Democrats and the Republican administration over appropriations.

The committee, cochaired by Sen Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, will hear today from the Department of Transportation.

'In several instances," the two Democrats wrote Rhodes, "we have found that directors of cabinet agencies requesting deficiency propriations either as a means of circumventing your order that agencies 'tighten their belts' and cut back on expenditures or because of faulty estimates used in making their original budget requests.

'Whatever the reasons," the letter continued, "we find it difficult torecommend any action on requests for deficiency appropriations without a matter and also without a clear indication of where monies...are to be derived.'

The Democratic finance chairmen said they were "especially distressed" over a request of $220 million from the welfare department.

The departments of mental health, commerce and natural resources have also appeared before the panel.

William W. Wilkins, Rhodes' deputy budget director, said he had already indicated to Meshel and Shoemaker that funds were not available to provide the agencies with supplemental appropriations.

Wilkins said he would study the letter further but was uncertain of its intent after several readings.

He said the welfare department's shortage was noted when department officials calculated the amount needed to meet benefit programs as mandated by the Democratic-written budget.

Meshel and Shoemaker said they would await a recommendation from Rhodes on the welfare department funding problem and "would hope that .. would result in a complete proposal for any additional appropriations.

Stock prices turn mixed

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market was mixed today, facing more of the profit taking that has weighed it down over the past several sessions. The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down almost a point. Gainers and losers stood about even in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Brokers said the market was in a continued pause after its sharp early-1976 rally, with little in the day's economic news to give it any strong push in either direction. Today's early prices included Esmark, unchanged at 361/2; Williams Cos., 3/8 higher at 265/8; W.R. Grace, up.

% at 31, and Ethyl Corp., steady at 44%. On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 7.79 to 950.57, extending its loss for the last three sessions to 21.33 points.

Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index fell .32 to the identification of children between the ages of one and 21, who have special needs, (learning or physical handicaps) and insures that these needs will be met.

Yambor presented a plan to the board that would hopefully determine how many persons in the school district has special needs. Under the plan information forms will be sent home to parents by way of students asking for the identification of anyone having special needs.

IN OTHER matters:

Foster reported that reduced-priced lunches would go on sale March 1 and forms will be sent home with students to determine eligibility for the 20-cent lunch program.

The board approved the rental of the Miami Trace High School gymnasium a local group conducting the Buckeye State Karate Championships on March 27.

Board member Philip L. Grover gave report on the Miami Trace High School athletic program. He said the program was suffering a budget strain because of the increased number of girls' sports this year. He added that due to this strain the athletic finances committee decided to budget all sports at one time in April. The employment of June Pollock as a teacher aide at Jeffersonville was approved by the board. Mrs. Pollock's contract will be for 76 days and become effective Feb. 18.

Mrs. Rheta Colvin of Bloomingburg was employed as a school bus driver with her contract also becoming effective Feb. 18.

The board also approved the employment of Denise Frost, Tony Kellough and Fern Miller as substitute teachers at the high school.

Leaves of absence were granted to New Holland and Wayne kindergarten teacher Patricia Payton, learning disabilities supervisor Susan Gossett. and maintenance supervisor Robert Kitchen.

Mrs. Payton's leave will be for the week of March 8-12 enabling her to accompany her husband on a business trip. Mrs. Gossett requested the maternity extension of her sick leave until March 26 while Kitchen, who has exhausted his sick leave following a heart attack, received a leave of absence until March 16.

WASHINGTON CALLING...By Marquis Childs

Concorde decision awaited

WASHINGTON relationship" of which the British have made so much over the years in a hands-across-the-sea gesture threatened with bad trouble

The cause: the disputed right of the supersonic Concorde to land at Kennedy airport in New York and Dulles airport in Washington. The airship represents an investment by the British and French of $2.5 billion.

If U.S. Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman Jr. rules that the supersonic plane cannot enter the United States - and it is to be his

That "special decision, there will surely be reprisals. Some defenders of the Concorde, such as Congress' chief aviation buff Sen. Barry Goldwater, have said that both London and Paris will bar U.S. planes from landing at their airports.

This is nonsense, since British and French planes land at American airports everyday of the year and they would not want to jeopardize their privileges on this side of the Atlantic.

But there will be a loud roar of protest if Coleman's decision is no. Much of this will come from the British and French unions in the vital to any nation aspiring to air transportation leadership in today's world. Besides dominating in civilian sales, the United States leads by a wide margin in the sale of military aircraft. But as the cost of the Concorde mounted to astronomical heights, and with the U.S. abandoning the projected plan for a supersonic aircraft after close to $1 billion had been invested, the

This is the heart of the matter. The United States today has from 90 per cent to 95 per cent of all civilian aircraft sales outside the Communist bloc.

Concorde looked hardly like a winner in the aviation sweepstakes. I recall that at the end of a singularly unproductive interview with Edward Heath in London when he was Prime Minister. I asked him about the future of that white elephant, the Concorde 'Not a white elephant at all," said. "Our businessmen will want to leave early for New York, transact their business during the day, and return before they are mugged.

The Concorde cuts half the time off the flight from London to New York. Britain and France are arguing in the Transport Air International Association, the cartel that controls fares, for an increase of 20 per cent over first class fare. This would make the London-New York flight of 31/2 hours cost about $735.

The economics of this extraordinary craft that flies at 70,000 feet is part of the debate. It will take 108 passengers with a fuel reserve that some critics have said is low, in the event of a crowded airport necessitating hovering or re-routing to another terminal. The British deny that this has anything to do with the safety factor of the plane.

Thus far, nine Concordes are on order. The orders are from British Airways and Air France. These are both national companies subsidized by their respective governments.

The cost is $60 million per plane. That would seem to put them out of reach of American airlines which have consistently been reporting large deficits. The Concorde promoters are hopeful of orders from Iran, although earlier reports of such sales proved groun-

The Concorde is to go into service to the Middle East, Rio de Janeiro and eventually to Tokyo, Australia, Kuala Lumpur and other Asian stops. But the big traffic origination is in New York, which is why Coleman's decision is so crucial.

If he says yes this will mean two flights a day to Dulles and it will give the Port of New York Authority the goahead for action at Kennedy. The British - French hope is for four flights a day into Kennedy

Even as he ponders his decision, due to come out on Feb. 4, Coleman is being besieged by environmentalists. They claim that at 70,000 feet the Concorde will have a serious effect on the layer of ozone protecting the planet from untraviolet rays, which could thereby cause a pronounced increase in skin cancer.

The environmentalists zero in, too, on the landing noise of the supersonic craft which could greatly add to the discomfort of those living near the

Collier counting days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Howard Collier, the financial flash from Toledo, is counting his days in state govern-

Hippy Howard, as he is affectionately known around the Statehouse, hangs up his calculator April 10 after serving more than a year as finance director for Gov. James A. Rhodes.

He speaks reverently of Rhodes, a governor he declares is "Ohio's greatest." The respect obviously is mutual, with Rhodes having turned to Collier to direct the state's finances since his first term as governor in 1963.

Collier doesn't fit the conservative stereotype that those who don't know the Republican budget wizard might imagine. He's mod from his long white hair to his Dingo boots.

He used to need boots because they stood up better under the 252 pounds packed on his 5-foot-8 frame. But a physically and fiscally tough year has brought him down by 60 pounds, reducing his waistline from a 46 to a 38. The 43-year-old bachelor says he quit drinking and that his doctor put him on a strict diet because of recent health problems, including a pinched nerve. It's virtually impossible to find anybody in Columbus- Democrat, Republican, legislator, lobbyist or reporter-who doesn't respect and like the candid Collier.

He was confirmed unanimously by a Democrat-controlled Senate last year, a feat coming in the midst of the bitter, partisan fighting between the executive and legislative branches.

Collier's start in government came after a stint in Korea as a sergeant during the conflict in the early 1950s. "I was looking for some place warm after freezing my butt in Korea," he recalls. He said he learned that Richard Krabach, a native of Lima, was comptroller for the U.S. Virgin Islands. "So I called him up and told him I was the brightest guy around-I used to be a brash s.o.b. He began as Krabach's assistant in 1955 and two years later followed him to the review board of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation as office supervisor When Rhodes was elected governor in 1963, Collier was invited to become state budget director at age 30 under Krabach, who was director of finance. He was elevated to finance director at the start of Rhodes' second term and became vice president-administration at the Medical College of Toledo in 1971. He took a leave of absence from the school to join the governor at the beginning of his third term in January

praises mental hospital

DEAR ABBY: May God bless you for asking readers who had spent three months or more in a mental hospital to write to you explaining the problems of getting back into society. You really do care about people, don't you?

I spent two years in a county mental hospital. At first I expected to be thrown together with freaks and nuts who would climb the walls, scream bloddy murder and act crazy. Some were a little strange, and occasionally hostile and hard to handle, but none was dangerous. Most were in deep state of depression.

Abby, will you please say a kind word for those wonderful people who work with disturbed patients? It takes a deep love for humanity to care for people who are mentally ill.

Today I am home, well and happy, and I know I never could have made it without the patient, loving and understanding people who looked after me. Thank you.

Fayette Garden Club met at the Terrace Lounge for the February meeting, they were seated at long tables decorated with potted cineraria plants and African violets. In the corner of the dining room, a large plant stand held dozens of cinerarias in a wide range of colors. All of these plants had been grown from seed by the Misses Jeanette and Josephine Roush, and the violets were propogated by leaf cuttings and full of bloom. Miss Roush stated that the cinerarias make lovely house plants, but require a cool temperature, plenty of water and must not be overcrowded. Also centering one of tables was a Valentine arrangement designed by Mrs. Emma

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, president, opened the meeting by reading a Valentine poem, and asked for reports from the various committees. Miss Jeannette Roush reported on the Presidents' Council and stated that tenative plans had been made for a trip to Williamsburg, Va., which would include all garden club members, sometime this spring, and the date will be announced later. Plans for the Fair Flower Show were also discussed, the theme this year to be "Our Heritage" and will include seven classes. Mention was also made of the contest sponsored by the Bicentennial committee on decorating mailboxes. This will be discussed in detail later.

Mrs. Kenneth Craig, horticulture chairman, gave timely hints on spring

Mrs. George Stitt, guest speaker for the afternoon, gave a most interesting and informative talk on "Grandmother's house plants and today's house plants." She stated that house plants recommended for house culture have not changed much in the last 50 to 75 years, but usually on the window sils of grandmother's time, begonias and geraniums were the favorites, and a musk plant was also grown and valued for its fragrance, but has since been lost to cultivation. Mahonia, peony, honeysuckle and dianthus were also popular house plants of 75 years or more, but are scarcely appropriate

Favorite house plants of this day and age, are easily grown if given ther proper care and will supply bloom throughout the dreary winter months. The most popular plant at this time seems to be the African Violet which now numbers several hundred species. Also popular is the Kalanchoe, cycleman, sultana, geranium, and the minature cacti. Various spring bulbs such as hyacinths, tulips, crocus, and narcissus may also be grown by for-

The culture of house plants provides a suitable occupation for children, shutins and invalids, but it is also an absorbing hobby for the hale and hearty, as in order to expect dividends for beauty and interest, there is also a 'know how' in keeping the plants healthy and alive. Over watering, dry air, lack of light and sunshine and water, may inhibit the normal growth and lack of bloom. In recent years, artificial lighting has become popular and seems quite a boon to house plants to produce better growth and bloom. The hostesses were Mrs. C.S. Kelley, Mrs. P.C. Harlow and Mrs. Arthur Finley. Invited guests were Mrs. Luke Musser, Mrs. Claud Davis, Mrs. Walter Parrett and Mrs. William Hastings.

The next meeting will be March 12 in the home of Mrs. Orville Bush, and her co-hostesses will be Mrs. Joe Fortier and Mrs. Ralph Hayes.

Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Circle 25, met at Anderson's Restaurant when Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, president, conducted the meeting in ritualistic form. Mrs. Nona Stevens the setting February 14, for the marriage of Miss Leslie Sue Lanum and David Jon DaRif. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger and the Rev. Father David Petry of St. Colman's Catholic Church officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Speeks Lanum, 1201 Dayton Ave. and William R. Lanum of Franklin, and the son of Mrs. Lawrence DaRif, 628 Damon Drive and the late Mr. DaRif.

Vases of red roses, white snapdragons and fuji mums adorned the altar. The candelabra were entwined with emerald greens and red and white satin bows. The family pews were marked with emerald greens and white satin bows

Miss Karen Bueltel of Celina, vocalist, and Jeff Sheridan, organist, cousin of the bride, presented a prelude of wedding selections. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a floor-length gown of ivory Quiana. Beaded Belgian lace trimmed the cameo neckline and the lace yoke of the empire bodice. The long sleeves were tapered and the flowing skirt extended to a chapel train. Framing her face was a chapel length veil of silk illusion, enhanced with a fingertip mantilla edged in lace and caught to a profile headpiece with beaded lace accents. She carried an arm cascade of red roses and California ivy

Mrs. Samuel J. Self, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a stained-glass-window red gown of Quiana with draped neckline, short trumpet sleeves and softly flared floor length skirt. She carried an arm

All carried flowers and wore head pieces identical to the matron of honor. Each wore a gold heart-shaped necklace, a gift from the

Eric Kellough, Columbus, served as best man for the groom. Seating the guests were Gary Mount, Jeff DaRif, brother of the groom, and Scott Lanum, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Lanum chose for her daughter's wedding, a formal length gown of champagne polyester which she combined with gold accessories. The groom's mother wore a turquoise chiffon floor-length gown with silver accessories. The mothers carried red sweetheart rose corsages on their purses. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. E. Glenn Speaks and Mrs. Robert Lanum, wore corsages of white orchids.

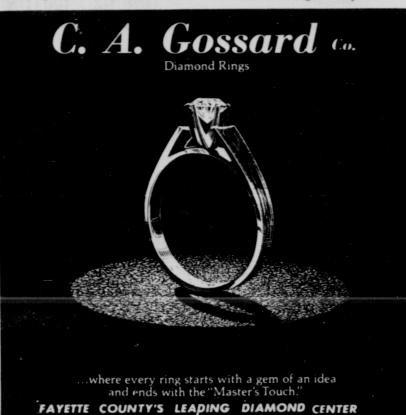

For the reception held at the Washington Country Club following the wedding ceremony, the bride's table held an ivory three-tiered wedding cake topped with a nosegay of red and white roses. The cake was encircled with red roses and greens and flanked by three-branch candelabra. Red and white flowers centered the buffet tables and crystal punch bowls completed the setting.

Hostesses for the reception were Miss Polly Wood of Cincinnati, Miss Vic Fortkamp and Miss Roxanne Christiansen, both from Dayton, and Miss Monique Henson of Piqua. Miss Luan Beauman of London, was at the

A flash flood watch was issued Tuesday for the entire state, as thunderstorms spread out ahead of a low pressure system moving northeast from western Missouri.

Rainfall could amount to more than one inch by today, the National Weather Service said.

A flash flood watch means a flash flood threat exists and that residents should be prepared to take quick action if flooding is observed or if a warning is issued, the weather service said.

A chance of rain or snow Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Davis resides on a farm near

New Holland with her husband, Ed, and son, Don. She has acquired another son this year, Ross Brown, who is an exchange student from New Zealand.

She keeps busy being a member of the adult chapter of AFS, Fayette County Professional Home Economics Club, and the New Holland Methodist Church. Mrs. Davis also likes to cook special foods, sew and read.

Next is the teacher who could be nicknamed "Head of the Super Smarts," our "In the Know," advisor, Miss Jean Davis.

Miss Davis is a local person raised in Fayette County and graduating from Miami Trace in 1966. She now resides in Washington C.H.

Besides being "In the Know" advisor. Miss Davis teaches science fiction, mythology and English II. She is also Prom advisor this year.

Miss Davis had this comment about Miami Trace. "Each year I enjoy my students and my classes more and Mr. Frank Creamer was one of the original teachers at Miami Trace High School. He has taught general science every year and American history for 15 years. This year he also teaches sophomore civics.

He coached varsity and reserve basketball, baseball and track for five years and had coached basketball at the junior high level for seven years.

"I have always enjoyed working with young people. Times and things have changed, some for the better. The attitude of youth to authority has changed. I have also changed by trying more love and understanding about conditions, etc. in the

Mr. Creamer's main interest at the present is driver education. He also enjoys working working with the other teachers here at Miami Trace very

Mr. William Diley one of our teachers of the week teaches in the Vo-Ag Department. He has taught here for the past 10 years. Mr. Diley originally came from near Columbus, attended and graduated from Ohio State

Mr. Diley is one of the reasons that Miami Trace can boast of a successful FFA chapter. He has been a part of the Future Farmers of America since the beginning of his high school days and has continued that association through teaching and the FFA Alumni Association.

Mr. Diley enjoys teaching and quite often puts in more hours than during school. Right now Mr. Diley and the FFA chapter are preparing for district and state evaluations where the chapter and members are rated and can pick up several awards.

DE student of week

The DE Student of the Week is David E. Knisley. David lives on Snowhill Road with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Knisley

David works at the Lakewood Sportsman as part of his Distributive Education II class. Here he works as bookkeeper and salesman in the afternoons. He talks to people about the boat and motor that is right for them. When a customer buys a sail boat for the first time, David takes the customer out and gives him pointers on sailing. "I like my job very much," remarked David.

advice to the underclassmen.

Our first featured senior this week is Denise Beoddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Beoddy. She resides with her parents at 8850 U.S. 35, SE.

DENISE BEODDY

The courses that Denise is taking this year are: American government, family living, contemporary literature, composition, housing, music theory, international studies, and symphonic choir. She is a member of Folksingers, Cyndi-Kated Singers, National Honor Society, and Good News Singers. In addition she is alternate for the "In the Know" team, public relations officer of FHA, editor of the Miami Tracer and a member of the Maple Grove United Methodist Church. Denise is also the female lead in Trace's musicial production of "South Pacific." Playing piano, cooking, reading, being with friends, and listening to the stereo are the things she enjoys doing.

Denise's future plans include attending Ohio State University's School of Music and majoring in music education. When asked to comment on her years at Trace, she said, "I have thoroughly enjoyed my four years at Miami Trace, especially my senior year. I'm looking forward to college, but I will miss all my friends very much. I wish the best of luck to the underclassmen

Our next senior is Ken Moon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Moon, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville. He has two sisters, Lois, and Wanda, who are both graduates of Miami Trace.

In Ken's schedule of courses this year are chemistry, consumer economics, family living, psychology, government and vo-ag. Ken is a member and twotime officer of the Future Farmers of America. He has been a member of dramatic arts club, marching band, concert band, symphonic band, and pep band. Ken is active in National Honor Society and will participate in the American Ambassadors Band. He is also a member of the Rose Avenue Wesleyan Church and Young People' Society. Ken enjoys horseback riding and working with livestock on the farm

Ken's future plans include working on the family farm or going to college in some field of agriculture or information and referral service designed to assist elderly persons in Fayette County, was explained to member of the Washington C. H. Lions Club at the regulart semi-monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday night in the Country Club.

"The purpose of the program is to give information, answer questions and make referrals," said Mrs. Marsha Davis, program coordinator.

"This does not limit itself to just giving persons names or numbers to contact but in 50 per cent of the cases it means setting up referral appointments for them, doing some of the spade work, sometimes finding transportation for them and sometimes going with them to walk through the process," she explained.

'Many people just don't know how to ask the proper questions on such things as Social Security payments and the service helps to eliminate persons being shuttled from one place to another.

Mrs. Davis, wife of Dr. Leroy Davis. Ohio 41-S, said, "All calls are followedup to see if they did get the service desired and were satisfied and if not, why not.

She pointed out that the service is strictly confidential and no names are released by the office which is located in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The program, which is funded through the Ohio Commission on Aging and sponsored by the Fayette County Health Department serves to document

The "Help Anonymous" program, an gaps in services. "The requests and needs of the callers are being noted," Mrs. Davis stressed. "This enables us to have hard data and facts as to the services and needs that are not available as well as the ones that are. This will assist agencies and the government in planning to meet the actual needs for community services,"

Mrs. Davis continued. "I have collected information from dozens of agencies and organizations, and persons for services they provide. This information is kept in a resource file which is constantly being updated,' she added

The program, which was launched here in July, is governed by an eightmember advisory board. The program will continue to be fully-funded until March 31 and after that the support will be reduced by $2,500. It is hoped, Mrs. Davis said, that funds can be raised locally to continue the program.

From a period of October through December, the Mrs. Davis said the Help Anonymous office received 532 calls. "For all the incoming calls, I may make an average of three outgoing calls plus follow-up calls to see if the person received the service they needed," she said.

THE VOLUNTEERS In Action program, in which Mrs. Davis serves as the acting coordinator, was also explained to the 71 club members attending.

The program was launched last November and a 16-member volunteer staff works in an effort to rehabilitate

'It's (the program) not a total entertainment package, but something for the child to learn to grown and develop," she noted.

Davis said $1,000 has been raised for in-service training for volunteers and to help defray the costs of office expenses and that the program has applied for a federal grant to continue operations.

The meeting was conducted by club president Richard Coates. During the meeting senior deputy district governor Jimmy Neal, of Mount Orab, announced that the annual district convention will be held March 28 in Rio Grande and that the state convention is scheduled May 21-23 in Columbus.

During a club board of directors meeting, four cases of providing eye glasses and examinations for needy persons were approved for payment. The cases totaled $251.50.

In other matters, Fred Reading, 2632 Old Springfield Road, who is associated with the new Calmar Division plant in the industrial park, was accepted into the club. He was sponsored by Richard Patton.

The board also authorized a privileged membership for Harry Thrailkill, 307 Staunton-Jasper Road. He has been a member of the club 28

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Writer Breaking the century mark for the second time this season, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions destroyed the Westerville North Warriors last night by a score of 106-72. Earlier this year, the Lions stomped Unioto by a score of 117-45 at the WSHS gym. Before this season, one had to go back to the 1973-74 cage season to find the Lions getting one hundred or more points in a game against Wilmington. The won that one 101-59, also on their home floor.

Last night, Court House landed six players in the double figure category. Sophomore John Denen led the way with 23 points followed by senior Randy Jamison with 18 tallies after coming off

Dee Hart Foster tossed in 14 points, Chuck Byrd canned 13 counters, Doug Phillips threw in 12 points, and Ken Upthegrove chipped in with 11 scores.

Forty-eight fouls were called in the game and the teams shot a total of 58 foul shots between them. The fouls helped Westerville considerably more than Washington as the Warriors collected 28 points from the free throw line and the Lions garnered 14.

Fouls are what gave the Warriors most of their points as their top scorer, Mark MacDonald who is averaging almost 18 points per game, scored 27 points with 19 coming on charity toses. MacDonald took more shots from the line than did the entire Lion team as he took 25 shots and Court House took only 19 free shots.

Also scoring in double figures for Westerville North were 6-4 Gary Brock, who scored 16 points before exiting the game in the fourth quarter with a leg injury, and sophomore Bill Brundige, who tossed in 12 points.

The first quarter of the game really told the story. The Lions spotted the Warriors two points and then rattled off 11 in a row to take an 11-2 lead.

All through theperiod, the Lions stole the ball away and got the pass to either Foster or Upthegrove inside. When they couldn't go inside, the shooting of Denen and Phillips racked up points from outside 18 feet.

In the first period, Foster scored eight of his points while Upthegrove and Denen each had seven and Phillips had six. The result of the teamwork was a comfortable 28-10 after one period.

In the second period, the Lions started to pull farther away and Jamison put on a shooting display. He came off the bench with a little over five minutes to play in the half and proceeded to score six quick buckets.

Lion jayvees post victory

The Washington C. H. Blue Lions again did what they seem to have been doing all season - beating teams effortlessly — and they easily handled the Westerville North reserves, 58-45.

The Lion jayvees took a quick 17-4 lead after one quarter of play and coasted to victory from that point.

Juniors Mark Burke and Tommy Dean once again led the Court House scoring charge. Burke threw in 22 points for his second consecutive 20 point performance. Dean hit with 10 field goals to add 20 points to the winning score also.

Doug Ross and Darrell Brock were the leading scorers for Westerville with 13 and 12 points, respectively

The Lions, now 15-2 overall and still 12-1 in the league, look for a win in their final game of the year this Friday against Circleville.

Softball meeting

A meeting for all softball managers interested in joining a softball league this season in Washington C. H. will be held at the Chester Estep residence, 902 Pearl St., Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Mostly from around the baseline, "Hondo," as Jamison is called, threw in everything he could get his hands on. In one stretch, he singlehandedly outscored Westerville 10-6.

With Jamison's work and five points from Byrd and four more from Denen, the Lions held a 55-29 halftime lead. After intermission, and a probable stiff pep talk from their coach, the Warriors played Washington C. H. evenly in the third period. They actually outscored the Lions in the quarter, 22-19.

MacDonald scored eight points in the frame, six from the foul line, and Brundige popped in six. Jamison threw in six more points and along with Mark Heiny's five tallies and Upthegrove and Phillips scoring four each, the Lions held a 74-51 lead going into the final

The fourth quarter was a shooting display put on by the Lions as they added 32 points to their total to break 100. Denen, who made 10 of 11 shots on the night, shot the eyes out of the basket in the finale, collected 12 of his 23

Byrd added eight more points to his total including a breakaway lay-up that broke the century mark. The final score was Washington 106 and Westerville 72.

With the exception of the foul

shooting, the Lions simply outplayed the Warriors in every department. From the floor, Court House shot 46 of 78 for 58.9 per cent compared with 22 for 63, a 34.9 percentage for Westerville

North Washington came down with 50 rebounds and the Warriors could come up with only 32 caroms. The efforts of Denen, Phillips, and DeWees equalled the Westerville output as they combined for 32 boards; Denen with 13, Phillips with 10, and DeWees with nine.

other statistics show a remarkable difference as the Lions had more assists, 28-9, fewer turnovers, 29-14, and more steals, 20-6.

Washington C. H., now 12-5 overall and still 9-4 in SCOL play, host to Circleville Friday for the final game of the 1975-76 regular season. Game time

Cardinals top Tulsa, 98-90

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Louisville Cardinals celebrated their return to the Top 20 by pulling the same shenanigans that last month cost them a spot among the nation's college basketball elite.

The 19th-ranked Cardinals, just short of miserable in the first half, needed some halftime psychology by Coach Denny Crum, a couple of lucky bounces and an overtime to down 16-time loser Tulsa 98-90 Tuesday night.

In the end, Louisville won its 11th straight game and boosted its record to 18-4 because 6-11 center Ricky Gallon took Crum's hint to heart. Limited to two layups and no rebounds in the first half, Gallon exploded for 21 points and six rebounds in the second half.

'Coach was waiting for us (in the locker room)," said Gallon of the halftime showdown. "All he said was, 'I'm through with it,' and then walked out of the locker room and shut the

"That had a great effect on me," added Gallon with a sheepish grin. With an inspired Gallon taking control underneath, Louisville moved from a 40-31 halftime deficit into a 62-62 tie with 9:09 left in regulation. The Cards led by as many as four points down the stretch, but Tulsa fought back on the scoring of Dan O'Leary, who finished with 19 points.

The Golden Hurricanes had a chance to win the game in the final seconds, but Tom Vincent had two of three free throws bounce out before canning the one that tied matters 86-86 at the end of regulation.

Louisville got its act together in the extra period. Gallon hit a layup, Rick Wilson scored on a rebound and a steal and reserve Danny Brown hit a pair of free throws for a safe 94-86 lead with 1:54 left.

Was Louisville perhaps looking ahead to Saturday's nationally televised showdown here with secondranked Marquette? "We emphasized over and over again not to look ahead," said Crum. But Gallon had the Warriors on his mind just minutes after Tulsa had been dis-'The place will be full and we'll be

Woman hurt as car plunges over bridge

A Hillsboro woman was injured Tuesday morning when she lost control of her car she was driving and careened over a bridge embankment just north of Greenfield, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies reported Roxie J. Clay, 20, of Hillsboro, lost control of her car at 9:40 a.m. Tuesday while traveling

Road intersection as she was attempting to pick up an object from the floor of her vehicle. Drifting toward the right, she jerked the steering wheel to the left, abruptly causing the car to swerve left of center, strike a guardrail and front portion of a cement bridge, and plunge over a steep embankment north on Ohio 41-S near the Barrett into the creek below. Soon after, she in Hillsboro, treated for injuries, and crawled from the car, it burst into flames. The Greenfield Fire Department was called to the scene, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames which had engulfed the demolished vehicle. The car had to be pulled out of the creek by a wrecker. The woman was taken to Highland District Hospital released. The Washington C. H. Police Department investigated five traffic accidents, most of which were parking lot mishaps.

Pollution plan rapped by foe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - State lawmakers looking at agricultural pollution problems are being steered in different directions by Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse and Natural Resources chief Robert W.

Stackhouse appeared before a House committee Tuesday to say a measure proposed by Teater is not needed and would impose a financial burden on farmers while having government mandate farm production and management.

Teater, asked about Stackhouse's testimony, defended the measure as "a reasonable approach" that provides for local standards and local control, agreed to following public hearings on behalf of those would be affected.

Among other things, Stackhouse

would empower already existing soil and water districts to set standards that call for a "a minimum level of management practices" to prevent pollution. He said "this constitutes the for mandated management.'

The agriculture director also expressed concern that the bill provides no help for farmers from public funds while not providing means for them to replace lost income. "I believe the public must be required to share the cost if we ever have a program like this," he added.

Teater said he thinks Stackhouse probably has misjudged the impact of the bill. "Most farmers want to follow sound management practices. It makes them sad to see their good soil erode and wash away in streams," he said, adding he thinks "there would be very few violators.

The natural resources director, who said he and Stackhouse have "an honest professional difference of opinion," said he believes farmers over the long haul would reap benefits from deplored one provision of the bill that such efforts as erosion control and silt retention with increased production. If a project has areawide or community impact, Teater said, he would agree that public funding should come into

> The natural resources director noted that Stackhouse "was out of the state" in recent years when public hearings were conducted by local soil and water districts and as a result might not be aware of the extent of the bill's support.

Among those backing it, he said, are each soil and water district in the state-one in each county-as well as their statewide organization. He said the Ohio Farm Bureau and Ohio Municipal League also helped in preparation of the legislation.

Stackhouse said support for the bill was based "on a misconception. Farmers hve been sold on it because they think it is going to free them of various EPA requirements and restrictions," about which they have complained strongly in recent years.

The bill was carried over for further

Gourmet Corner Clams a Great U.S. Favorite

By TOM HOGE AP Newsfeatures Writer When Captain John Smith was browsing along the coast of New England in the 17th century, he discovered clams and soon began digging with gusto for the succulent bivalves.

"You shall scarce find any bay or cove of sand," he wrote a friend back home, "where you may not take clampes or lobsters or both at your pleas-

Times have changed. With our habit of over-harvesting, the era of abundance has passed for the clam, but there are still enough for Americans to be billed as the world's greatest clam eaters.

There are several varieties of this popular bivalve in Atlantic coastal waters from Carolina to Greenland. Known as longnecks, they are even more pop-ular in New England than the hard-shelled variety which the Indians named quahogs.

Steamers were introduced on the West Coast in the 1880s and are found from Monterey north to Alaska. It is the leading clam in the California market. Soft-shelled clams dwell in the shadows beneath tidemarks and burrow below the sandy surface.

The hard-shelled quahog is found from Cape Cod on down to Texas. Young quahogs are known as little necks and the very small ones as "cherry stones.

Quahogs are also found off the coasts of Maine and New Brunswick. They are harvested by raking or dredged up like oysters. Small and medium-sized quahogs are eaten on the half-shell raw or cooked. The big ones are usually cut up for chowder

An eastern clam, the long fragile-shelled razor, is quite popular but perishable. This variety should be eaten the day it is dug up and is good fried, steamed or in a chowder.

The Atlantic coast has other types like the surf clam whose big shells are often made into souvenir ash trays. But they are not common in the markets.

Here is a New England favorite called clam pie

2 quarts soft-shell longnecks

1 cup cubed raw potatoes 1 onion chopped fine 1/2 cup diced celery

1/2 cup diced green pepper Salt and pepper to taste

Dash tabasco 1 teaspoon sugar 3 tablespoons butter 3 tablespoons flour

1 cup milk Pie pastry made from 1½ cups flour Wash clams in several changes lukewarm water. Drain clams and place in kettle. Add 2 cups cold water and bring slowly to boil. When clams open remove from heat. Strain clam broth through double thickness of cheesecloth and reserve broth. Remove clams from shells and dip each clam into broth; snip off and discard dark heads. Strain broth again and chop clams. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place potato cubes, onion, celery and green pepper in sauce-pan and add 1 cup salted water. Bring to boil and simmer covered till potatoes are tender. Add salt, pepper, tabasco, sug-ar, chopped clams and broth. Bring to boil. Blend butter and flour. Stir slowly into simmering stew. Bring milk to boil and add to stew. Remove from heat. Butter a 11/2-quart pie dish and pour in clam mixture. Cover with rolled out pie pastry and prick with fork. Bake 30 minutes or till pastry is golden

> NATIONAL SYMPHONY RECORDS BILLINGS

WASHINGTON (AP) - The National Symphony has re-leased a Bicentennial recording, "Be Glad Then, America." All the music performed is based on hymns by William Billings, born Oct. 7, 1746, the first native-born American composer.

The album, recorded by London Records, is the first to be wholly owned by the National Symphony. Proceeds from its sale will go into a recording fund to insure the continuation of the orchestra's recording projects. It is available only by mail from the National Symphony at Kennedy Center and it costs $6.50, which includes postage.

Repeated Kidney Stone Attacks

stones mean that there is greater susceptibility to more in the future? Is there any way to avoid this painful experience? Mr. J., D., Minn

Dear Mr. D.:

One attack does not necessarily predispose a person to future attacks.

A better understanding of how stones are formed will clearly demonstrate that, if the underlying cause is not eliminated, the attacks may very well occur again.

Urine flows from the kidney through the narrow tubes, the ureters, into the bladder.

Infection, inflammation and some irritation in the kidneys or in the ureters may be responsible for the calcium deposit that is the beginning of a stone. Stones, even tiny ones, can produce the excrutiating pain of the attacks.

Occasionally, the stone, instead of being composed of calcium, may contain uric acid crystals. This suggests a tendency to gout.

Diet, elimination of infection along the urinary tract, and control of the gouty tendency, are the best ways to prevent the formation of further stones.

During the past three years, my daughter has twice lost all her eyelashes. At the age of 18 this is particularly embarrassing. The eyelashes grow

Does one attack of kidney back after a few months. What is causing this?

Mrs. E. E., Ga

Dear Mrs. E .: One of the most common causes is some allergic reaction to cosmetics. A number of cases have been reported of high sensitivity to nail polish. It sounds strange that an allergic reaction around the eyes should be traced to some distant source.

Local infection around the base of the lashes may also be responsible, causing them to break and fall out.

Adolescents, young adults and even some children have a temporary loss of eyelashes when under severe emotional stress. This occurs more frequently than is commonly suspected.

While other causes are being sought, watch out for the possibility that the glue of false eyelashes may be an allergic factor.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Once an eye infection is controlled, the eye dropper and the eye drops should be discarded. Very often, the drops themselves may be contaminated during the period that the infection has been

The mental rights bill, sponsored by Rep. Paul R. Leonard, D-37 Dayton, spells out that mental patients remain citizens, subject to the bill of rights of the U.S. Constitution.

'The bill of rights would guarantee and restore to those that are hospitalized the basic civil rights held by everyone else in society," Leonard

The rights guaranteed would include a right to treatment and a right to periodic review of competence. The bill also provides that mental patients are entitled to all other civil rights unless they cannot be granted for medical

But Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, claimed the measure simply diverts funding from treatment to administration.

'To make these changes, it takes money," Finan said. "We are not going to put the money into the areas where it's needed, for treatment.

'Instead, we're going to mandate that that money be spent in legal costs and administration, things that will not help these patients one bit.

In the Senate, the procedural bill for students was termed a "clear and equitable response" to the 1975 court ruling overturning Ohio's present law.

The new law will require written notice to students of impending disciplinary action and will allow students to confront their accusers.

City school parents receive material on reduced lunches

The Washington C. H. School District Tuesday sent literature home with students explaining the federally subsidized lunches which will provide lunches at reduced prices to students of families with limited incomes. The material also included an application form for eligible families.

Since the city and county school systems have differing lunch prices, the amount of savings which can be realized by an eligible family varies. Washington C. H. School District students pay 50 cents per lunch, and a student in the city system would have 30 cents or $54 per year.

High school students in the Miami Trace School District pay 60 cents for lunches while elementary students pay 55 cents. A high school student would save $72 per year and an elementary student $63.

The free lunch program will continue as usual. Under this program, families

Ford takes short jabs at Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford says he and challenger Ronald Reagan differ on some issues. But whether it's a philosophical difference seems to depend on which of the President's statements one hears.

At one point in a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night, Ford said, "Governor Reagan is to the right of me philosophically." Elaborating on their differences about federal spending and Social Security, he said "it is a somewhat different philosophy.'

But a few minutes later, in response to another Reagan question, Ford said, "I don't think there are any philosophical differences.... I think he is to the right of me in a pragmatic and prac-

Either way, Ford also declared that 'anybody to the right of me, Democrat or Republican, can't win a national election.

He named no other names, but on the Democratic side seemed clearly to be referring to Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama

In stressing the Social Security and federal spending issues, Ford continued to hit at themes he believes will help him in the New Hampshire and Florida primaries.

But he declined two opportunities at the news conference to flatly predict victories.

"I think we will do well in both I am encouraged in both cases," he said. Reagan campaign manager Lyn Nofziger challenged Ford's recitations the former California governor's positions. Ford said Reagan has suggested from time to time that Social Security ought to be voluntary and that he has suggested Social Security funds might be invested in the stock market.

Nofziger said Reagan "has been stating very clearly that he believes Social Security must be mandatory and that Reagan has never proposed stock market investment for the fund. Reagan told a news conference in Florida last week that Social Security funds "are not invested, as they could be invested, in the industrial might of America.'

Ford said he disagreed with what he described as Reagan's proposal of "a $90-billion cut in federal expenditures transferring the responsibilities and the programs to the local and state officials where they either have to abandon the programs or raise taxes to support them.

Nofziger said Reagan "has always proposed that any transfer of federal program funds back to the states must be accompanied by a transfer of tax

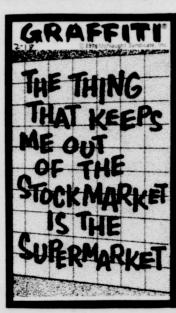

Ford said he would campaign in New Hampshire Thursday and Friday this week. The election is next Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a variety of controversies swirled at the level of the lifeblood of political campaigns

Senate Rules Committee scheduled hearings for today on proposals to reconstitute the Federal Election Commission, which will lose many of its powers after Feb. 29 unless Congress revamps the new federal election law that was partially struck down by the Supreme Court. Sen. James L. Buckley, Cons.-R-N.Y., whose name led the lawsuit attacking the law, called Tuesday for prompt and major restructuring of the campaign finance procedure. He said a new Justice Department

unit should enforce the law, the Congress should not be allowed as at present to veto FEC regulations and the limits on campaign contributions that were upheld by the Supreme Court should be raised.

House Speaker Carl Albert said he was confident new agreement could be reached on a new law including a reconstituted commission before the end-of-the-month deadline set by the court. The fight to reconstitute the commission is expected to be tougher in the House because of the opposition of Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, election legislation.

But if the panel is not reconstituted, the faucet of federal matching funds may be turned off as of March 1. Even as the debate over its future continued Tuesday, the FEC certified Reagan for an additional $494,687.68 in government money for his campaign.

At the same time, the National Abortion Rights Action League filed a complaint with the FEC trying to stop the award of any matching funds to antiabortionist Ellen McCormack. She is campaigning for the presidency on a single-issue platform and submitted her matching funds application Jan. 31.

She claims she has raised the required $5,000 in each of 20 states from individual contributions of $250 or less.

The FEC staff, now auditing the McCormack submission, plans to report to the commission Thursday.

There were these other political developments Tuesday:

-Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., called for a "maximum determined national effort" to rebuild the U.S. Navy, which he said has fallen dangerously behind the Soviet navy. Jackson said as president he would increase the fleet to from 650 to 700 ships instead of the present 477.

-Jackson also made public his federal income tax returns for the past five years, which showed he earned $322,210 during the period 1971-1975. According to the returns, he donated $102,725 received for speeches and other honoraria to charity.

Health department programs are funded by four-tenths of a mill. This millage is on two separate levies of twotenths of a mill each. One levy expires at the end of this year, and other at the end of 1977. They generate $23,000 each.

The board requests that the .2-mill levy to expire this year be approved for the ballot by the commissioners and placed on the ballot for renewal for another five years.

In addition, Covert requested that the tuberculosis levy of .15-mill be placed on the June 8 ballot for a five-year renewal. This levy currently generates $17,300 per year for tuberculosis control. Normal operating expenses for the health board programs in this area run only $7,000-8,000 per year, and the balance of the revenue is kept in a special fund to be used in case of an epidemic. The levy expires this year.

During the last five years of the levy, a surplus of some $30,000 has been generated for the emergency fund, and another $30,000 surplus can be expected if the levy is renewed for five more years. Including interest, this would

Hearst says her mind was swamped with revolutionary rhetoric and her body ravaged by rape and other physical abuse when she robbed a bank under fear of execution.

Miss Hearst wept frequently as she testified before the jury for the second time Tuesday - a day on which the trial judge issued a memorandum saying the newspaper heiress had failed to convince him she was "a prisoner whose every move was made under the watchful eye" of her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

Miss Hearst, sipping water and using tissues to wipe away her tears, told her jurors that she entered a Hibernia Bank branch on April 15, 1974, certain that SLA chieften Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze intended to gun her down in counsel F. Lee Bailey why she frequently glanced over her shoulder at DeFreeze, replied, "I had thought that even though I would go in and do this. that he was going to kill me anyway inside the bank.

She said she reacted with disbelief when the SLA told her they were going to rob a bank and she would participate. They said they needed money, she testified, and that DeFreeze wanted me to be wanted by the FBI.' The basis of Miss Hearst's defense is that she participated in the holdup under threat of death.

The jurors listened intently Tuesday as the defendant testified between replays of the tapes she said she recorded in blind terror.

She told them of being forced to have sexual intercourse with DeFreeze and SLA member Willie Wolfe in the cell-like closet where she was kept blind-Bailey said Miss Hearst would continue her saga today, her third day on the stand, as she moves into what he concedes is the "stickiest point" in her defense - a shooting spree that led indirectly to the deaths of DeFreeze, Willie Wolfe and four other SLA members in a shootout.

The defendant has admitted spraying a Los Angeles sporting goods store with rifle fire in what she claimed was an SLA-induced reflex to free two SLA members from a bungled shoplifting

A pistol left on the sidewalk and a teen-ager taken hostage overnight plus other clues led Los Angeles police to the shootout in which the six SLA members died on May 17, 1974. The jury will see a video-taped newscast of the fiery afternoon, Bailey said.

generally liberal scholars and politicians today urged mandatory prison sentences for violent offenders and called for an end to the parole system

The Committee for the Study of Incarceration concluded that a convicted offender should be punished with iail or some lesser penalty primarily 'because he deserves it," not because of any hope of rehabilitation. But the panel also recommended that only the most vicious criminals should be jailed longer than five years.

The committee's conclusions from a four-year study were published today in a book called "Doing Justice."

Former New York Sen. Charles Goodell, now a Washington lawyer, was chairman of the panel which was formed shortly after the 1971 Attica prison riot and was financed with grants from the Field Foundation and the New World Foundation.

'It may seem surprising that a group of liberal professors and activists, when faced with a choice between trying to rehabilitate offenders and punishing them as they deserve, chose punishment," Goodell

The committee also included Alan Dershowitz, a professor at Harvard law school; Herman Schwartz, chairman of the New York State Correction Commission; Eleanor Holmes Norton, chairman of the New York City Commission on Human Rights; Joseph Goldstein, a professor at Yale law school; and David Rothman, a professor of history at Columbia University.

The committee joined Atty Gen. Edward H. Levi, other government officials and a growing number of criminal justice experts in the opinion that efforts at rehabilitating criminals through vocational training or psychological counseling - have failed to curb crime

Rehabilitation has been the primary goal of sentencing during the recent past, the committee noted.

Instead, the group proposed that the principal guide for the sentencing process should be a theory of "commensurate deserts" - punishing the offender because he deserves it, based on the seriousness of the crime and how much of a part he played in it.

Democrats ask Rhodes views on shortages in funding

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Two clear indication of your desires in this Democratic legislative leaders asked Gov. James A. Rhodes today for "a clear indication of your desires" on action to aid state agencies facing budget

A joint House-Senate Finance Committee has reopened hearings on the state's current twoyear budget in a continuing dispute between majority Democrats and the Republican administration over appropriations.

The committee, cochaired by Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, will hear today from the Department of Transportation.

the two 'In several instances." Democrats wrote Rhodes, "we have found that directors of cabinet agencies requesting deficiency propriations either as a means of circumventing your order that agencies 'tighten their belts' and cut back on expenditures or because of faulty estimates used in making their original budget requests.

'Whatever the reasons," the letter continued, "we find it difficult to recommend any action on requests for deficiency appropriations without a matter and also without a clear indication of where monies ... are to be derived."

The Democratic finance chairmen said they were "especially distressed" over a request of $220 million from the welfare department.

The departments of mental health, commerce and natural resources have also appeared before the panel.

William W. Wilkins, Rhodes' deputy budget director, said he had already indicated to Meshel and Shoemaker that funds were not available to provide the agencies with supplemental appropriations.

Wilkins said he would study the letter further but was uncertain of its intent after several readings.

He said the welfare department's shortage was noted when department officials calculated the amount needed to meet benefit programs as mandated by the Democratic-written budget.

Meshel and Shoemaker said they would await a recommendation from Rhodes on the welfare department funding problem and "would hope that ...would result in a complete proposal for any additional appropriations.

Sewer, water projects eyed

Bloomingburg village council met briefly Tuesday night.

Village solicitor Walter A. Seifried announced that the Farmers Home Administration had approved the proposed contracts for sewer and water projects, and the awarding of contracts should be completed within the next two months.

Once the contracts have been signed. actual construction is expected to take two years to complete. The projects include installation of water meters. additions to the water filtering system and the drilling of another well, construction of a sewage treatment facility, and installation of sewer lines. In other action, the clerk was authorized to send letters to the

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market was mixed today, facing more of the profit taking that has weighed it down over the past several sessions. The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down almost a point. Gainers and losers stood about even in the over-all tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues. Brokers said the market was in a continued pause after its sharp early-1976 rally, with little in the day's economic news to give it any strong push in either direction.

Today's early prices included Esmark, unchanged at 361/2; Williams Cos., % higher at 26%; W.R. Grace, up. 1/4 at 31, and Ethyl Corp., steady at 443/4 On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 7.79 to 950.57, extending its loss for the last three sessions to 21.33 points.

Losers held a 4-3 edge on gainers among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index fell .32 to

Board member Philip L. Grover gave a report on the Miami Trace High School athletic program. He said the program was suffering a budget strain because of the increased number of girls' sports this year. He added that due to this strain the athletic finances committee decided to budget all sports at one time in April The employment of June Pollock as a teacher aide at Jeffersonville was approved by the board. Mrs. Pollock's contract will be for 76 days and become effective Feb. 18.

Mrs. Rheta Colvin of Bloomingburg was employed as a school bus driver with her contract also becoming effective Feb. 18.

The board also approved the employment of Denise Frost, Tony Kellough and Fern Miller as substitute teachers at the high school.

Leaves of absence were granted to New Holland and Wayne kindergarten teacher Patricia Payton, learning disabilities supervisor Susan Gossett, and maintenance supervisor Robert Kitchen.

Mrs. Payton's leave will be for the week of March 8-12 enabling her to accompany her husband on a business trip. Mrs. Gossett requested the maternity extension of her sick leave until March 26 while Kitchen, who has exhausted his sick leave following a heart attack, received a leave of absence until March 16.

Plan loophole for candidates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) graceful exit for unsuccessful presidential candidates was approved by the House 95-1 and sent to the Senate on Tuesday.

The legislation would allow presidential candidates to remove their names from primary election ballots up to 30 days before the election. Sponsors said the bill would help clear the ballot of candidates who are not actually in contention but were not eliminated until close to the election.

WASHINGTON CALLING...By Marquis Childs

Concorde decision awaited

Your Horoscope

WASHINGTON - That "special decision, there will surely be reprisals. relationship" of which the British have made so much over the years in a hands-across-the-sea gesture threatened with bad trouble

The cause: the disputed right of the supersonic Concorde to land at Kennedy airport in New York and Dulles airport in Washington. The airship represents an investment by the British and French of $2.5 billion.

If U.S. Secretary of Transportation William T. Coleman Jr. rules that the supersonic plane cannot enter the United States - and it is to be his

Some defenders of the Concorde, such as Congress' chief aviation buff Sen. Barry Goldwater, have said that both London and Paris will bar U.S. planes from landing at their airports.

This is nonsense, since British and French planes land at American airports everyday of the year and they would not want to jeopardize their privileges on this side of the Atlantic.

But there will be a loud roar of protest if Coleman's decision is no. Much of this will come from the British and French unions in the aerospace industry and from commercial interests that see the United States as an oligopolist determined to monopolize the aircraft field.

This is the heart of the matter. The United States today has from 90 per cent to 95 per cent of all civilian aircraft sales outside the Communist bloc. McDonnell-Douglas Lockheed dominate the field.

This means that neither Britain nor France has any substantial base for an aerospace industry. Concorde was to be the Franco-British entry in an area vital to any nation aspiring to air transportation leadership in today's world. Besides dominating in civilian sales, the United States leads by a wide margin in the sale of military aircraft.

But as the cost of the Concorde mounted to astronomical heights, and with the U.S. abandoning the projected plan for a supersonic aircraft after close to $1 billion had been invested, the Concorde looked hardly like a winner in the aviation sweepstakes.

I recall that at the end of a singularly unproductive interview with Edward Heath in London when he was Prime Minister, I asked him about the future of that white elephant, the Concorde

'Not a white elephant at all," he said. "Our businessmen will want to leave early for New York, transact their business during the day, and return before they are mugged.'

The Concorde cuts half the time off the flight from London to New York. Britain and France are arguing in the International Air Transport Association, the cartel that controls fares, for an increase of 20 per cent over first class fare. This would make the London-New York flight of 31/2 hours cost about $735.

The economics of this extraordinary craft that flies at 70,000 feet is part of the debate. It will take 108 passengers with a fuel reserve that some critics have said is low, in the event of a crowded airport necessitating hovering or re-routing to another terminal. The British deny that this has anything to do with the safety factor of the plane.

Thus far, nine Concordes are on order. The orders are from British Airways and Air France. These are both national companies subsidized by their respective governments.

The cost is $60 million per plane. That would seem to put them out of reach of American airlines which have consistently been reporting large deficits. The Concorde promoters are hopeful of orders from Iran, although earlier reports of such sales proved groun

The Concorde is to go into service to the Middle East, Rio de Janeiro and eventually to Tokyo, Australia, Kuala Lumpur and other Asian stops. But the big traffic origination is in New York, which is why Coleman's decision is so crucial.

If he says yes this will mean two flights a day to Dulles and it will give the Port of New York Authority the goahead for action at Kennedy. The British - French hope is for four flights a day into Kennedy

Even as he ponders his decision, due to come out on Feb. 4, Coleman is being besieged by environmentalists. They claim that at 70,000 feet the Concorde will have a serious effect on the layer of ozone protecting the planet from untraviolet rays, which could thereby cause a pronounced increase in skin cancer.

The environmentalists zero in, too, on the landing noise of the supersonic craft which could greatly add to the discomfort of those living near the airports.

It is a far-reaching decision one man must make. And the outcome will have a great deal to do with the friendship. or lack of it, with America's two principal allies in Europe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Howard Collier, the financial flash from Toledo. is counting his days in state govern-

Hippy Howard, as he is affectionately known around the Statehouse, hangs up his calculator April 10 after serving more than a year as finance director for Gov. James A. Rhodes

He speaks reverently of Rhodes, a governor he declares is "Ohio's greatest." The respect obviously is mutual, with Rhodes having turned to Collier to direct the state's finances since his first term as governor in 1963. Collier doesn't fit the conservative stereotype that those who don't know the Republican budget wizard might imagine. He's mod from his long white hair to his Dingo boots. He used to need boots because they stood up better under the 252 pounds packed on his 5-foot-8 frame. But a physically and fiscally tough year has brought him down by 60 pounds, reducing his waistline from a 46 to a 38. The 43-year-old bachelor says he quit drinking and that his doctor put him on a strict diet because of recent health problems, including a pinched nerve. It's virtually impossible to find anybody in Columbus- Democrat, Republican, legislator, lobbyist or reporter-who doesn't respect and like the candid Collier.

He was confirmed unanimously by a Democrat-controlled Senate last year, a feat coming in the midst of the bitter,

partisan fighting between the executive and legislative branches.

Collier's start in government came after a stint in Korea as a sergeant during the conflict in the early 1950s.

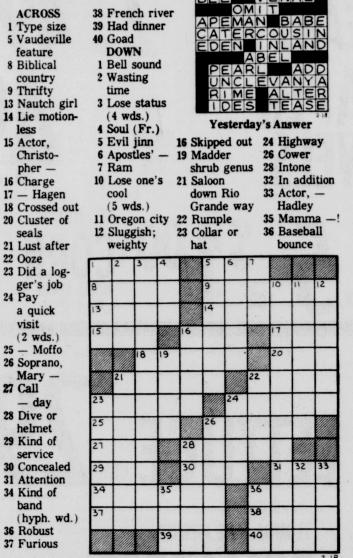

"I was looking for some place warm after freezing my butt in Korea," he recalls. He said he learned that Richard Krabach, a native of Lima, was comptroller for the U.S. Virgin Islands. "So I called him up and told him I was the brightest guy around-I used to be a brash s.o.b.

He began as Krabach's assistant in 1955 and two years later followed him to the review board of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation as office supervisor.

When Rhodes was elected governor in 1963, Collier was invited to become state budget director at age 30 under Krabach, who was director of finance. He was elevated to finance director at the start of Rhodes' second term and became vice president-administration at the Medical College of Toledo in 1971. He took a leave of absence from the school to join the governor at the beginning of his third term in January

DEAR ABBY: May God bless you for asking readers who had spent three months or more in a mental hospital to write to you explaining the problems of getting back into society. You really do care about people, don't you?

I spent two years in a county mental hospital. At first I expected to be thrown together with freaks and nuts who would climb the walls, scream bloddy murder and act crazy. Some were a little strange, and occasionally hostile and hard to handle, but none was dangerous. Most were in deep state of depression.

Abby, will you please say a kind word for those wonderful people who work with disturbed patients? It takes a deep love for humanity to care for people who are mentally ill.

Today I am home, well and happy, and I know I never could have made it without the patient, loving and understanding people who looked after me. Thank you. FORMER MENTAL PATIENT

Christmas means to me: It means spending the holidays going to programs in which my musically talented children perform. (Most ministers marry women who can play the piano so they will always have someone to play for the services. These wives usually produce musically gifted children.) Christmas means working hard to make gifts for the family in order to live within a limited budget. Ministers' wives have always done this. It means cooking everything from scratch for the same reason.

Christmas means being excluded from a lot of holiday parties because most people don't want us to know the kind of drinks they're serving. (We know anyway.)

Christmas means spending all the time at the stove, sink or washing machine. Nobody offers to help with anything, and after a few tries, you end up doing it alone because it's easier than begging for help. Christmas means receiving gifts from your family that will enable you to serve them better-rarely anything to satisfy your personal, feminine desires. Christmas means physically exhausted and trying to keep from showing it. The family isn't concerned. Any suggestions, Abby?

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with Roy for a year and a half. We plan to be married

Roy's brother went with a girl I'll call Gloria. Gloria and I are good friends. Gloria broke up with Roy's brother and is going to marry someone else. My boyfriend and I were invited to the wedding. I want to go. My boyfriend says that he will not go and that out of respect to his brother, I shouldn't go, either. I think he's out of line, and I told him I thought he was childish-and if everyone thought like this, no one would have a friend in the world. What do you say?

EASTERNER DEAR EASTERNER: I'm with you Adults choose their own friends. (And enemies.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Grandmother's house plants and plants of today' is topic

When members and guests of the Fayette Garden Club met at the Terrace Lounge for the February meeting, they were seated at long tables decorated with potted cineraria plants and African violets. In the corner of the dining room, a large plant stand held dozens of cinerarias in a wide range of colors. All of these plants had been grown from seed by the Misses Jeanette and Josephine Roush, and the violets were propogated by leaf cuttings and full of bloom. Miss Roush stated that the cinerarias make lovely house plants, but require a cool temperature, plenty of water and must not be overcrowded. Also centering one of the tables was a Valentine arrangement designed by Mrs. Emma Kelley

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Edwin Thompson, president, opened the meeting by reading a Valentine poem, and asked for reports from the various committees. Miss Jeannette Roush reported on the Presidents' Council and stated that tenative plans had been made for a trip to Williamsburg, Va., which would include all garden club members, sometime this spring, and the date will be announced later. Plans for the Fair Flower Show were also discussed, the theme this year to be "Our Heritage" and will include seven classes. Mention was also made of the contest sponsored by the Bicentennial committee on decorating mailboxes. This will be discussed in detail later. Mrs. Kenneth Craig, horticulture chairman, gave timely hints on spring the afternoon, gave a most interesting and informative talk on "Grand-

Mrs. George Stitt, guest speaker for mother's house plants and today's house plants." She stated that house plants recommended for house culture and Mrs. Ralph Hayes.

have not changed much in the last 50 to 75 years, but usually on the window sils of grandmother's time, begonias and geraniums were the favorites, and a musk plant was also grown and valued for its fragrance, but has since been lost to cultivation. Mahonia, peony, honeysuckle and dianthus were also popular house plants of 75 years or more, but are scarcely appropriate

Favorite house plants of this day and age, are easily grown if given ther proper care and will supply bloom throughout the dreary winter months. The most popular plant at this time seems to be the African Violet which now numbers several hundred species. Also popular is the Kalanchoe, cycleman, sultana, geranium, and the minature cacti. Various spring bulbs such as hyacinths, tulips, crocus, and narcissus may also be grown by for-

The culture of house plants provides a suitable occupation for children, shutins and invalids, but it is also an absorbing hobby for the hale and hearty, as in order to expect dividends for beauty and interest, there is also a "know how" in keeping the plants healthy and alive. Over watering, dry air, lack of light and sunshine and water, may inhibit the normal growth and lack of bloom. In recent years, artificial lighting has become popular and seems quite a boon to house plants to produce better growth and bloom.

Dominique Blanke, American Field Service exchange student from Belgium, and a senior at Miami Trace High School, entertained the members of Delta Child Conservation League Monday evening, when she showed slides of her native land, told of the climate, and how it reminded her of Ohio. Belgium is only one third as large as Ohio, she said, and strawberries and hops are two of the main crops. Mrs. Ora Burdge, Dominique's American mother, was also a guest.

Mrs. Thomas Mossbarger, president, conducted the brief business meeting and read "If You Have Lost Your Faith in Yourself." Mrs. Alvin Armintrout read the devotions, and Mrs. Gerald Ferro was welcomed as a new mem-

Bride wears ivory Quiana gown for Valentine Day wedding

Grace United Methodist Church was the setting February 14, for the marriage of Miss Leslie Sue Lanurn and David Jon DaRif. The Rev. Allen Puffenberger and the Rev. Father David Petry of St. Colman's Catholic Church officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. Barbara Speeks Lanum, 1201 Dayton Ave. and William R. Lanum of Franklin, and the son of Mrs. Lawrence W. DaRif, 628 Damon Drive and the late Mr. DaRif.

Vases of red roses, white snapdragons and fuji mums adorned the altar. The candelabra were entwined with emerald greens and red and white satin bows. The family pews were marked with emerald greens and white satin hows

Miss Karen Bueltel of Celina. vocalist, and Jeff Sheridan, organist, cousin of the bride, presented a prelude of wedding selections. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose a floor-length gown of ivory Quiana. Beaded Belgian lace trimmed the cameo neckline and the lace yoke of the empire bodice. The long sleeves ered and the flow extended to a chapel train. Framing her face was a chapel length veil of silk illusion, enhanced with a fingertip mantilla edged in lace and caught to a profile headpiece with beaded lace accents. She carried an arm cascade of red roses and California ivy.

Mrs. Samuel J. Self, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a stained-glass-window red gown of Quiana with draped neckline, short trumpet sleeves and softly flared floor length skirt. She carried an arm

Mrs. James Herbert, of Fairfield bridesmatron, and Miss Susan DaRif, bridesmaid, sister of the groom, wore gowns identical to the honor attendant. Miss Mary DaRif, junior bridesmaid, sister of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of the same shade, but with an ivory front panel. All carried flowers and wore head pieces identical to the matron of honor. Each wore a gold heart-shaped necklace, a gift from the

Eric Kellough, Columbus, served as best man for the groom. Seating the guests were Gary Mount, Jeff DaRif, brother of the groom, and Scott Lanum, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Lanum chose for her daughter's wedding, a formal length gown of champagne polyester which she combined with gold accessories. The groom's mother wore a turquoise chiffon floor-length gown with silver accessories. The mothers carried red sweetheart rose corsages on their purses. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. E. A flash flood watch was issued Tuesday for the entire state, as thunderstorms spread out ahead of a low pressure system moving northeast from western Missouri.

Rainfall could amount to more than one inch by today, the National Weather Service said.

A flash flood watch means a flash flood threat exists and that residents should be prepared to take quick action if flooding is observed or if a warning is issued, the weather service said.

'Help Anonymous' program outlined for Lions Club

information and referral service designed to assist elderly persons in Fayette County, was explained to member of the Washington C. H. Lions Club at the regulart semi-monthly dinner meeting held Tuesday night in the Country Club.

"The purpose of the program is to give information, answer questions and make referrals," said Mrs. Marsha Davis, program coordinator.

"This does not limit itself to just giving persons names or numbers to contact but in 50 per cent of the cases it means setting up referral appointments for them, doing some of the spade work, sometimes finding transportation for them and sometimes going with them to walk through the process," she explained.

"Many people just don't know how to ask the proper questions on such things as Social Security payments and the service helps to eliminate persons being shuttled from one place to Mrs. Davis, wife of Dr. Leroy Davis, Ohio 41-S, said, "All calls are followedup to see if they did get the service desired and were satisfied and if not, why not.

She pointed out that the service is strictly confidential and no names are released by the office which is located in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The program, which is funded through the Ohio Commission on Aging and sponsored by the Fayette County Health Department serves to document

The "Help Anonymous" program, an gaps in services. "The requests and needs of the callers are being noted," Mrs. Davis stressed. "This enables us to have hard data and facts as to the services and needs that are not available as well as the ones that are. This will assist agencies and the government in planning to meet the actual needs for community services,"

Mrs. Davis continued. "I have collected information from dozens of agencies and organizations, and persons for services they provide. This information is kept in a resource file which is constantly being updated," she added.

The program, which was launched here in July, is governed by an eight-member advisory board. The program will continue to be fully-funded until March 31 and after that the support will be reduced by $2,500. It is hoped, Mrs. Davis said, that funds can be raised locally to continue the program.

From a period of October through December, the Mrs. Davis said the Help Anonymous office received 532 calls. "For all the incoming calls, I may make an average of three outgoing calls plus follow-up calls to see if the person received the service they needed," she said.

THE VOLUNTEERS In Action program, in which Mrs. Davis serves as the acting coordinator, was also explained to the 71 club members attending.

The program was launched last November and a 16-member volunteer staff works in an effort to rehabilitate youths on probation and provide possible guidance for pre-delinquent voungsters.

The volunteers are requested to spend two hours per week with their assigned youngster. The only qualification for the volunteers is that they "should care, be open and honest" with the youths, according to Mrs.

"It's (the program) not a total entertainment package, but something for the child to learn to grown and develop," she noted.

Mrs. Davis said $1,000 has been raised for in-service training for volunteers and to help defray the costs of office expenses and that the program has applied for a federal grant to continue operations.

The meeting was conducted by club president Richard Coates. During the meeting senior deputy district governor Jimmy Neal, of Mount Orab, announced that the annual district convention will be held March 28 in Rio Grande and that the state convention is scheduled May 21-23 in Columbus.

During a club board of directors meeting, four cases of providing eye glasses and examinations for needy persons were approved for payment. The cases totaled $251.50.

In other matters, Fred Reading, 2632 Old Springfield Road, who is associated with the new Calmar Division plant in the industrial park, was accepted into the club. He was sponsored by Richard

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports-Writer Breaking the century mark for the second time this season, the Washington C. H. Blue Lions destroyed the Westerville North Warriors last night by a score of 106-72.

Earlier this year, the Lions stomped Unioto by a score of 117-45 at the WSHS gym. Before this season, one had to go back to the 1973-74 cage season to find the Lions getting one hundred or more points in a game against Wilmington. The won that one 101-59, also on their home floor.

Last night, Court House landed six players in the double figure category. Sophomore John Denen led the way with 23 points followed by senior Randy Jamison with 18 tallies after coming off the bench

Dee Hart Foster tossed in 14 points, Chuck Byrd canned 13 counters, Doug Phillips threw in 12 points, and Ken Upthegrove chipped in with 11 scores.

Forty-eight fouls were called in the game and the teams shot a total of 58 foul shots between them. The fouls helped Westerville considerably more than Washington as the Warriors collected 28 points from the free throw line and the Lions garnered 14.

Fouls are what gave the Warriors most of their points as their top scorer, Mark MacDonald who is averaging almost 18 points per game, scored 27 points with 19 coming on charity toses. MacDonald took more shots from the line than did the entire Lion team as he took 25 shots and Court House took only 19 free shots

Also scoring in double figures for Westerville North were 6-4 Gary Brock, who scored 16 points before exiting the game in the fourth quarter with a leg injury, and sophomore Bill Brundige, who tossed in 12 points.

The first quarter of the game really told the story. The Lions spotted the Warriors two points and then rattled off 11 in a row to take an 11-2 lead.

All through theperiod, the Lions stole the ball away and got the pass to either Foster or Upthegrove inside. When they couldn't go inside, the shooting of Denen and Phillips racked up points from outside 18 feet.

In the first period, Foster scored eight of his points while Upthegrove and Denen each had seven and Phillips had six. The result of the teamwork was a comfortable 28-10 after one period.

In the second period, the Lions started to pull farther away and Jamison put on a shooting display. He came off the bench with a little over five minutes to play in the half and proceeded to score six quick buckets.

Lion jayvees post victory

The Washington C. H. Blue Lions again did what they seem to have been doing all season — beating teams ef-fortlessly — and they easily handled the Westerville North reserves, 58-45.

The Lion jayvees took a quick 17-4 lead after one quarter of play and coasted to victory from that point.

Juniors Mark Burke and Tommy Dean once again led the Court House scoring charge. Burke threw in 22 points for his second consecutive 20 point performance. Dean hit with 10 field goals to add 20 points to the winning score also.

Doug Ross and Darrell Brock were the leading scorers for Westerville with 13 and 12 points, respectively. The Lions, now 15-2 overall and still 12-1 in the league, look for a win in their final game of the year this Friday against Circleville.

Softball meeting

A meeting for all softball managers interested in joining a softball league this season in Washington C. H. will be held at the Chester Estep residence, 902 Pearl St., Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

Mostly from around the baseline, "Hondo," as Jamison is called, threw in everything he could get his hands on. In one stretch, he singlehandedly outscored Westerville 10-6.

With Jamison's work and five points from Byrd and four more from Denen, the Lions held a 55-29 halftime lead.

After intermission, and a probable stiff pep talk from their coach, the Warriors played Washington C. H. evenly in the third period. They actually outscored the Lions in the quarter, 22-19.

MacDonald scored eight points in the frame, six from the foul line, and Brundige popped in six. Jamison threw in six more points and along with Mark Heiny's five tallies and Upthegrove and Phillips scoring four each, the Lions held a 74-51 lead going into the final period. The fourth quarter was a shooting display put on by the Lions as they added 32 points to their total to break 100. Denen, who made 10 of 11 shots on the night, shot the eyes out of the basket in the finale, collected 12 of his 23 Byrd added eight more points to his total including a breakaway lay-up that broke the century mark. The final score was Washington 106 and

With the exception of the foul

shooting, the Lions simply outplayed the Warriors in every department. From the floor, Court House shot 46 of 78 for 58.9 per cent compared with 22 for 63, a 34.9 percentage for Westerville

Washington came down with 50 rebounds and the Warriors could come up with only 32 caroms. The efforts of Denen, Phillips, and DeWees equalled the Westerville output as they combined for 32 boards; Denen with 13, Phillips with 10, and DeWees with nine.

The other statistics show a remarkable difference as the Lions had more assists, 28-9, fewer turnovers, 29-14, and more steals, 20-6.

Washington C. H., now 12-5 overall and still 9-4 in SCOL play, host to Circleville Friday for the final game of the 1975-76 regular season. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

Cardinals top Tulsa, 98-90

 ${\tt LOUISVILLE~(AP)-The~Louisville}$ Cardinals celebrated their return to the Top 20 by pulling the same shenanigans that last month cost them a spot among the nation's college basketball elite.

The 19th-ranked Cardinals, just short of miserable in the first half, needed some halftime psychology by Coach Denny Crum, a couple of lucky bounces and an overtime to down 16-time loser Tulsa 98-90 Tuesday night.

In the end, Louisville won its 11th straight game and boosted its record to 18-4 because 6-11 center Ricky Gallon took Crum's hint to heart. Limited to two layups and no rebounds in the first half, Gallon exploded for 21 points and six rebounds in the second half.

'Coach was waiting for us (in the locker room)," said Gallon of the halftime showdown. "All he said was, 'I'm through with it,' and then walked out of the locker room and shut the

"That had a great effect on me," added Gallon with a sheepish grin.

With an inspired Gallon taking control underneath, Louisville moved from a 40-31 halftime deficit into a 62-62 tie with 9:09 left in regulation. The Cards led by as many as four points down the stretch, but Tulsa fought back on the scoring of Dan O'Leary, who finished with 19 points.

The Golden Hurricanes had a chance to win the game in the final seconds, but Tom Vincent had two of three free throws bounce out before canning the one that tied matters 86-86 at the end of regulation

Louisville got its act together in the extra period. Gallon hit a layup, Rick Wilson scored on a rebound and a steal and reserve Danny Brown hit a pair of free throws for a safe 94-86 lead with

Was Louisville perhaps looking head to Saturday's nationally televised showdown here with secondranked Marquette?

"We emphasized over and over again not to look ahead," said Crum. But Gallon had the Warriors on his mind just minutes after Tulsa had been dis-

"The place will be full and we'll be ready," said Gallon. "That's going to be a game and a half."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - State lawmakers looking at agricultural pollution problems are being steered in different directions by Agriculture Director John M. Stackhouse and Natural Resources chief Robert W.

Stackhouse appeared before a House committee Tuesday to say a measure proposed by Teater is not needed and would impose a financial burden on farmers while having government mandate management.

Teater, asked about Stackhouse's testimony, defended the measure as "a reasonable approach" that provides for local standards and local control, agreed to following public hearings on behalf of those would be affected.

Among other things, Stackhouse

such efforts as erosion control and silt retention with increased production. If a project has areawide or community impact, Teater said, he would agree that public funding should come into

The natural resources director noted that Stackhouse "was out of the state" in recent years when public hearings were conducted by local soil and water districts and as a result might not be aware of the extent of the bill's support.

Among those backing it, he said, are each soil and water district in the state-one in each county-as well as their statewide organization. He said the Ohio Farm Bureau and Ohio Municipal League also helped in preparation of the legislation.

Stackhouse said support for the bill was based "on a misconception. Farmers hve been sold on it because they think it is going to free them of various EPA requirements and restrictions," about which they have complained strongly in recent years.

Gourmet Corner Clams a Great U.S. Favorite

By TOM HOGE AP Newsfeatures Writer When Captain John Smith was browsing along the coast of New England in the 17th century, he discovered clams and soon began digging with gusto for the succulent bivalves.

"You shall scarce find any bay or cove of sand," he wrote a friend back home, "where you may not take clampes or lobsters or both at your pleas-

Times have changed. With our habit of over-harvesting, the era of abundance has passed for the clam, but there are still enough for Americans to be billed as the world's greatest clam eaters.

There are several varieties of this popular bivalve in Atlantic coastal waters from Carolina to Greenland. Known as longnecks, they are even more pop-ular in New England than the hard-shelled variety which the Indians named quahogs.

Steamers were introduced on the West Coast in the 1880s and are found from Monterey north to Alaska. It is the leading clam in the California market Soft-shelled clams dwell in the shadows beneath tidemarks and burrow below the sandy surface.

The hard-shelled quahog is found from Cape Cod on down to Texas. Young quahogs are known as little necks and the very small ones as "cherry stones

Quahogs are also found off the coasts of Maine and New Brunswick. They are harvested by raking or dredged up like oysters. Small and medium-sized quahogs are eaten on the half-shell raw or cooked. The big ones are usually cut up for chowder.

An eastern clam, the long fragile-shelled razor, is quite popular but perishable. This variety should be eaten the day it is dug up and is good fried, steamed or in a chowder.

The Atlantic coast has other types like the surf clam whose big shells are often made into souvenir ash trays. But they are not common in the mar-

Here is a New England favorite called clam pie.

2 quarts soft-shell longnecks

1 cup cubed raw potatoes 1 onion chopped fine

1/2 cup diced celery 1/2 cup diced green pepper Salt and pepper to taste Dash tabasco 1 teaspoon sugar

3 tablespoons butter 3 tablespoons flour 1 cup milk

Pie pastry made from

1½ cups flour

Wash clams in several changes lukewarm water. Drain clams and place in kettle. Add 2 cups cold water and bring slowly to boil. When clams open remove from heat. Strain clam broth through double thickness of cheesecloth and reserve broth. Remove clams from shells and dip each clam into broth; snip off and discard dark heads. Strain broth again and chop clams. Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place potato cubes, onion, celery and green pepper in sauce-pan and add 1 cup salted water. Bring to boil and simmer covered till potatoes are tender. Add salt, pepper, tabasco, sugar, chopped clams and broth. Bring to boil. Blend butter and flour. Stir slowly into simmering stew. Bring milk to boil and add to stew. Remove from heat. Butter a 1½-quart pie dish and pour in clam mixture. Cover with rolled out pie pastry and prick with fork. Bake 30 minutes or till pastry is golden. Serve hot. Serves 6-8. Good with chilled chablis.

Traffic Court

A number of traffic cases, including one in which a Washington C.H. man pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and speeding charges, were heard by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judges Robert L. Simpson, and acting judge John P. Case Tuesday.

Joseph Trimble, 25, of 2406 Parrott-Station Road, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and speeding. He was fined $250, sentenced to three days in jail, and had his license suspended for 30 days by Judge Case on the drunk driving charge. Trimble was also fined $50 for the speeding offense.

Steven E. Smalley, 25, of 730 Clinton Ave., was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle without regard to safety and leaving the scene of an accident. He was fined $50 by Judge Simpson on the first offense, and fined $300 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident. Judge Simpson suspended $150 of the fine and the 30-day jail sentence.

Minority groups favored in bills

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Two minority groups which don't usually catch the public eye were looked upon favorably by legislators Tuesday with bills recognizing their constitutional

The minority groups were the mentally ill and public school students. Each was the subject of legislation approved in one chamber of the General Assembly.

The House voted 89-6 for a bill of rights for mental patients, defining their right to treatment and rights against improper commitment.

In the Senate, lawmakers voted 29-0 in favor of a bill defining procedures for suspension and expulsion of public school students.

The bill was a reaction to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that Ohio's present law does not sufficiently safeguard the students' rights.

The mental rights bill, sponsored by Rep. Paul R. Leonard, D-37 Dayton, spells out that mental patients remain citizens, subject to the bill of rights of the U.S. Constitution.

'The bill of rights would guarantee and restore to those that are hospitalized the basic civil rights held by everyone else in society," Leonard

The rights guaranteed would include a right to treatment and a right to periodic review of competence. The bill also provides that mental patients are entitled to all other civil rights unless they cannot be granted for medical

For persons facing involuntary commitment, the bill spells out right to counsel and right to a jury trial.

It also allows an existing cadre of state lawyers to oversee the mental health system to assure patients' rights

are protected

But Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, claimed the measure simply diverts funding from treatment to administration.

"To make these changes, it takes money," Finan said. "We are not going to put the money into the areas where it's needed, for treatment. 'Instead, we're going to mandate that that money be spent in legal costs and administration, things that will not help these patients one bit.

In the Senate, the procedural bill for students was termed a "clear and equitable response" to the 1975 court ruling overturning Ohio's present law.

The new law will require written notice to students of impending disciplinary action and will allow students to confront their accusers.

City school parents receive material on reduced lunches

Tuesday sent literature home with students explaining the federally subsidized lunches which will provide lunches at reduced prices to students of families with limited incomes. The material also included an application form for eligible families.

Since the city and county school systems have differing lunch prices, the amount of savings which can be realized by an eligible family varies. Washington C. H. School District students pay 50 cents per lunch, and a student in the city system would have 30 cents or $54 per year.

High school students in the Miami Trace School District pay 60 cents for lunches while elementary students pay 55 cents. A high school student would save $72 per year and an elementary student $63.

The free lunch program will continue as usual. Under this program, families

Ohioan lands on Missouri road

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) - A single-engine plane made an emergency landing on Missouri 13 after it ran out of fuel on a flight to Las Vegas Tuesday, the highway patrol said.

Buford Voris of Troy, Ohio, pilot of the plane, said he had planned to stop at Springfield for fuel but was forced to make an emergency landing about five miles north of the city.

Voris and his two passengers were not injured and the plane was not damaged. They refueled and resumed their flight about 11/2 hours after touching down.

The Washington C. H. School District with very limited incomes may receive lunches for their children free of charge if their income falls below established guidelines. The maximum allowable income for free meals is considerably lower than the figures for reduced meals. The county schools will be sending home literature concerning the reduced lunch prices in the near future.

Questions concerning either program can be answered by the superintendent's office in each school system. The city superintendent's telephone number is 335-6620. The county office number is 335-3010.

Shoplifting cases aired

Two Fayette County women were found guilty of shoplifting in two separate cases heard in Municipal Court Monday. Judges John P. Case and Robert L. Simpson also heard four other non-traffic cases.

Debbie K. Elmore, 18, of Sabina, was found guilty of shoplifting and fined $50 by Judge Case. She was sentenced to 30 days in jail with 30 day suspended.

Judith A. Frey, 20, of 6101/2 Washington Ave., was found guilty of shoplifting, fined $25 and sentenced by Judge Case to 10 days in jail, the time being suspended. Jimmy Joe Deskins, Bloomingburg, was convicted of shoplifting by Judge Simpson and ordered to pay court costs and cost of the items stolen. Jerry P. Hamby, 22, of 520 North St., was found guilty by Judge Simpson of disorderly conduct and fined $100. Cathy Ann Woodfork, 22, of 3015 Old Springfield Road, was found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined $15 by Judge Simpson.

Lonnie Ayers, 32, of 8674 CCC Highway-E, was found guilty by Judge Case of criminal damaging or endangering property, and was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail with 10 days suspended.
